Steel pay decision possible this week

By BILL WINTER

A decision is expected to be made Friday in Pittsburgh on what contract changes, if any, union leaders will recommend to workers in the troubled steel industry.

Major steel firms are said to want pay and benefit concessions affecting the final year of the August 1980-July 1983 agreement.

Earnings of all of them have been hurt by the current economic recession. National Steel Corporation, owner of Granite City Steel, said Thursday it lost $90 million in the first six months of 1982.

The slump in steel orders is a lively topic here these days. There was wide response to the Press-Record's disclosure Thursday that many steel employees and steel executives are driving foreign automobiles built with foreign steel.

Reports circulated here during the weekend that the big new multi-purpose physical education building under construction at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is utilizing steel shipped from Belgium.

The project manager said Friday he does not know whether this is the case. SIUE also does not know.

The gymnasium contract was awarded on bids handled by the Illinois Capital Development Board, rather than the university. The basis was low bids to specifications, and there were no "buy American" requirements.

Europe's Common Market nations and the U.S. were dueling verbally during the weekend over allegations of below-cost steel exports to America.

Several hundred United Steelworkers local presidents who work at eight steelmakers, including National Steel, met July 21. Many of them said informally that they oppose contract concessions.

Discussions took place the previous week between union and company representatives, after such talks were authorized June 18 by the union's basic steel industry conference.

The United Steelworkers have confirmed that a meeting will be held July 30 but have not divulged what will be considered. Lloyd McBride, president,

Area greets arrival of Pres. Reagan

President Ronald Reagan arrives at Lambert St. Louis International Airport Thursday afternoon, but not for the eyes of the public. Air Force One taxied to the Rockwell International facilities across the field from the public airport terminal amidst heavy security. Only members of the press, airport personnel and state officials were allowed access to the immediate area where the president quickly transferred from the airliner to his limousine. Additional photos of the president's visit appear on Page 14 of this issue.

Utility hearing Wednesday

By BILL WINTER and NANCY WEIL

A crowd of several hundred persons is being predicted by some for a public hearing to be held here at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday on proposed Illinois Power Co. rate increases of 19.9 percent on electricity and 9.7 percent on natural gas. The Illinois Commerce Commission hearing will take place at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Madison Concerned Citizens, who oppose the rate hikes, have scheduled a public rally for 5:30 p.m. on the nearby City Hall lawn, Niedringhaus and Edison avenues, with those at the rally then marching in a group to the town hall.

Those active in opposing higher utility rates have included local home owners, businesses, Southwestern Illinois mayors and the Illinois Public Interest Research Group.

IPIRG, based at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is arranging rides to the Granite City hearing for out-of-town residents. Its telephone number is 692-3382.

The City Council of Granite City voiced concern about power and gas rate trends at its meeting last week. It is anticipated that aldermen will be among those speaking at the hearing.

The ICC has opened the session to all who want to speak, or who want to hear others' comments.

Illinois Power is filing the rate request said more revenue is needed in order to provide adequately for present and future energy needs in the territory it serves.

The pending electric rate proposal would increase charges to homes by 24.9 percent; municipalities would pay 23.7 percent more, general service 18.2 percent, lighting 17.1 percent and industrial customers 16.5 percent, according to William E. Steiner, representative of the Madison Concerned Citizens organization. It was his group's request that led to the scheduling of the local hearing.

National award to SEMC for cardiac rehab program

By MARIE MCKINSEY

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's cardiac rehabilitation program has been awarded a top national award—the Certificate of Merit of the American Hospital Association.

The award announced Friday by the AHA is part of its first National Patient Education Hospital Leaders Awards Program.

The AHA commended the local cardiac heart rehab program for its "achievement in the provision of patient education services for a specific target population," adding that the Medical Center is also "to be commended for its commitment to providing well-managed patient education services as a part of high-quality, cost-effective health care."

Nearly 300 hospitals across the United States submitted applications for the AHA awards.

Included with the application, the AHA required extensive documentation describing the program, resources available, educational methods, program results, consumer involvement, benefits to the hospital and more.

Only 41 hospitals received awards. Of the health care facilities in the St. Louis metropolitan area, only St. Elizabeth

Plant staff grows despite bankruptcy

Michigan Metals, a steel processing firm which has a local plant in the former Commonwealth and General Steel Castings Corp. plant in Granite City, filed Thursday for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

Corporate officials in Detroit Friday would say only, "We will stay open," and hint that the corporation does not plan to liquidate.

N.T. "Noble" Wonseller, general manager of the Granite City plant, commented, "This plant is still processing steel. We plan to do business under Chapter 11."

Ironically, Wonseller noted that the decision to call back about eight persons, increasing the production workforce by 36 percent, had been made just before the news of the bankruptcy was received. He said he plans to continue the callback this week, in-

Security tight for President's visit

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER of the Press-Record

Security was tight at Lambert St. Louis International Airport Thursday for President Ronald Reagan's first visit to the Gateway City since taking office in January 1981.

At 2:35 p.m. a camouflaged U.S. Air Force C-130 Hercules cargo plane took off from Lambert after delivering the presidential and entourage limousines. Air Force One was still more than an hour away.

The cargo plane seemed out of place amidst the backdrop of the sleeker commercial jets. Finally, the lumbering giant taxied to the end of the runway, increased its speed, took to the air and then climbed out of sight.

Crowds, hoping soon to get a glance at the President's plane, began to gather alongside James S. McDonnell Blvd. Numerous St. Louis city police cars patrolled the stretch of barbed wire fence along the boulevard.

Ironically, Genair Drive, the entrance road to the Rockwell International hangar, where the President's plane would be parked and refueled, seemed strangely accessible.

A uniformed policeman directed media personnel to a fenced area where they were instructed to park their vehicles.

"Reporters?" he quipped. "Follow him," the policeman said pointing to a news photographer.

As they approached the Rockwell hangar, security stiffened.

Three men, presumably Secret Service agents, and a uniformed St. Louis city policeman searched reporters.

"Put your hands in the air and spread your legs," said the agent with the dark blue pin-striped suit. He moved a small metal detector—about the size of a

Treatment plant fee, budget showdown; replace Decatur

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

A budget debate facing the City Council tomorrow will pit against each other two former mayoral election opponents, once again debating a past campaign issue—the size of the wastewater treatment plant staff. Also to be decided is the amount of a planned quarterly treatment fee increase, $4.50 or $8.88.

Differing stands on the city-operated plant have been taken by Mayor Paul Schuler and Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Decatur.

In a related development, the mayor announced Friday he is replacing Decatur as chairman of the aldermanic treatment plant committee. The new chairman is to be Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

Also on Friday, Decatur and Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Vardian jointly issued a four-page report on the wastewater plant, including a proposal to lay off seven workers despite a 26-person manning agreement signed by the city with Operating Engineers Local 525 in May.

In addition to complicated monetary and technical issues that are involved, plant staffing remains a touchy political matter. At one time, the staff exceeded 30 workers.

Most of the employees were hired when the secondary treatment portion of the plant was being put into operation in the mid-1970s. Schuler has been mayor since 1973.

Decatur has repeatedly attacked the size of the staff. He also charged excessive past absenteeism, and attendance by the employees did improve sharply after the large number of absences was disclosed in the Press-Record.

Mayor Schuler said he was removing Decatur as chairman because he felt the alderman was using the committee position to air past grievances. The mayor said he referred to the 1981 mayor election campaign.

As soon as Decatur learned of his removal Friday, he said he was not surprised. "That's exactly what I thought would happen," he said.

$1.43 million Venice school budget

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice Board of Education, continuing its policy of tightening fiscal outlays in the face of further expected downswings in future economic conditions facing all school districts, last week adopted a tentative budget of $1,431,801 to operate the Venice public schools in 1982-83.

Although reduced by $157,484 from the 1981-82 budget of $1,589,285, the reduction is not quite what it appears, Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

He explained that last year's budgeted figures included a total of $144,000 in tax anticipation warrants which were paid off prior to the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Without the tax anticipation warrants, a decrease of $13,484 is shown from the 1981-82 figure.

A public hearing and formal adoption of the budget to follow are scheduled at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 23. The budget will remain on display for 30 days in the Venice superintendent's office.

During his presentation of the tentative budget, Supt. Vickers stated, "We could have finished this year smelling like a rose, if we'd got the Corporate Replacement checks we had expected and not had the tax objections."

Tax objections against the Venice School District amounted to $47,000 last year and a shortage of more than $43,000 was experienced in projected Corporate Replacement checks, Supt. Vickers said.

In addition, board members also gave approval to a $684,829 tentative budget, including a $77,000 balance on hand July 1, for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. The adult vocational school is financed with federal and state funds, but administered by the Venice School Board.

The total budget for Venice-Lincoln and the Venice public schools amounts to $2,018,021, a decrease of $174,079 from the combined budget last year of $2,192,100.

Total amount of receipts, revenues and transfers from all sources, plus estimated balances on hand July 1, 1982, for both the public schools and Venice-Lincoln, amounts to $2,110,971.

With the exception of the Municipal Retirement Fund, which is higher by $930, all funds projected in the new budget show decreases.

The funds listing the new budget figures, last year's figures in parenthesis and the differences shown, in sequence are:

Education—$1,186,591 ($1,307,645), down $121,054; operating, building and maintenance—$142,000 ($161,001), down $19,000; bonds and interest—$25,750 ($32,275), down $6,525.

Julian Johnson, who was appointed to the SIUE Student Senate in the spring elections, expressed concern over what he feels is a lack of commitment to the center from the SIUE administration, which was to implement program there during fall quarter.

The letter specifically refers to a 31-page document prepared by the Office of transportation—$54,550 ($58,560), down $4,010; and municipal retirement—$22,910 ($21,980), up $930.

"I feel quite pleased with the way the budget is working out this year, if we get the amount of money projected for income we should be alright in the operation of the district," Supt. Vickers said. He added, however, "that if we get the money that we are supposed to get."

Board President Jack Tolliver reported during a weekend meeting in Chicago, Governor James Thompson spoke strongly in support of education and its funding process.

In its capacity as administrators, the board authorized the start of operations at the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center on Aug. 23 on the same basis as last year, with VLTC staff members again being asked to sign waivers in the event various federal and state supported programs are not refunded.

Peter Ponce, who is replacing Duane Rankin as VLTC administrator, expressed his appreciation to the board for his appointment to the post and promised "100 percent effort and cooperation with all of you in any way."

He noted that if the money allocated in the state budget for adult education was spread evenly across the state, it would be possible that a 17 percent increase could be expected in CETA funding.

A proposal has been submitted by the local adult education facility and CETA programs involving the school are being considered by both Madison and St. Clair counties, he reported.

"Hopefully, when everything comes together, we can go ahead and ask for approval of going along with the same people (instructors) as last year, if the budget allows it," Ponce said.

"I am sure you will have the support of all the people here," Tolliver told the new administrator.

In board awarded a contract to resurface the 73 by 25 feet asphalt playground-parking area at the Venice schools to Kamadulski Excavating and Grading Co., 4330 Highway 162, on a bid of $9,965.

Four other bids, recommended by the superintendent and accepted by the board, were awarded to Ranges Poultry Farm, New Athens, eggs; Prairie Farms Dairy, dairy products; Dean's Bakery, bread; and Venice Gas and Oil, gasoline.

Resolutions were adopted transferring $20,000 from the building fund to education fund and $1,738 from the education fund to Title IV Fund.

Supt. Vickers said a Corporate Replacement check for $103,000 is expected this month which should keep the district going until tax collections start coming in about mid-September. A small check also is expected in August.

Permission was granted to use two nine-month employee, Derek Maples, a bus driver, and Algie Crawford, a security officer and bus driver, as substitute custodians should the need arise in order to complete summer maintenance projects.

Letter critical of SIUE programs

Vice President and Provost titled, "SIUE's Commitment to East St. Louis." The document mentions data processing, accounting and public administration as possible programs at the center.

"However, I took the liberty of glancing through the fall schedule and found that no courses of this kind are being offered at the center," the letter said.

The letter also said that Johnson was told by SIUE Chancellor Kenneth Shaw that business courses would be offered at the center during fall quarter. Johnson said in the letter that there are no courses offered in this area.

Of the 18 course offerings for the fall, 14 are in the dance department and the other four are in social work, black culture, music and Afro-American literature, the letter said.

The letter also asserted, "someone is telling a big lie and I don't think it's the fall schedule."

Johnson is a strong advocate of student rights at SIUE and has worked on a task force concerning proposed expenditures of Student Welfare and Recreation Fund monies at the center.

Course this fall for women in management

Problems in Business — Women Aspiring to Management, a course to teach women to function effectively in the corporate atmosphere, will be offered at Belleville Area College this fall.

The class will seek to help students build confidence and become organized to deal with business situations.

Instructor Karen Brown says, "I'm a strong believer that women can have a lot of education in business, but many women are not prepared for the demands and stress that business places on them."

"Frequently when women first go out into a managerial and decision-making atmosphere, it can be overwhelming. She cited examples of being the only woman at a meeting and having to travel by herself on business trips.

Women also need to learn to deal with the high level of competition without losing their perception," she said, adding that "in today's business environment, a woman with the ability to humanize situations can be very valuable."

"There is a need for this type of course because women are just beginning to achieve management positions. They need to know how to become more powerful in the business structure."

While aimed at women, she said, the information can be valuable to men as well; it can be beneficial to men who don't know how to relate to women in management positions.

During the course, Karen Brown covers resume writing and interview skills, time management, stress management, communication, assertiveness training, negotiating skills, harassment on the job, travel and career planning.

Her background in business includes work in industry and education. As cooperative coordinator for O'Fallon High School, she helps students find jobs that will help them in their future careers.

She has a bachelor degree from Benedictine College in Atchinson, Kan., and a master of business administration degree from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"Problems in Business — Women Aspiring to Management" will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. Thursdays for 16 weeks beginning Sept. 2 at the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Registration is from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday at the registrar's office, Room 2206. There is registration by phone at 235-7900 during the same hours, ending Friday, July 30.

Regular registration will end Aug. 25.

GC woman to give talks in Australia

Mrs. Ginny Lepping, RN, OHN, Coordinator of the Industrial Medicine Department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, has been invited to address the Australian Occupational Health Nurse Association at its conference in Adelaide, South Australia, in September.

Mrs. Lepping will be presenting the results of an independent comparison study she conducted there in the spring of 1980.

The study compares occupational health management services of the United States and Australia. Before going to Adelaide, Mrs. Lepping will be stopping in Sydney to give the commencement address at Sydney Technical College.

The students, who have earned their higher certificate (comparable to a master's degree) in occupational health management, are the first graduates of such a program in Australia.

Mrs. Lepping said that in the commencement address, she has been asked to explain the development of the program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Hospital-based programs such as those here are uncommon in Australia, she noted.

Mrs. Lepping has been the coordinator of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center industrial medicine program since the spring of 1981. The department works with business and industry in Madison and St. Clair counties to provide health care services tailored to their needs.

Special meeting on extending summer recreation in Venice

The Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Venice Park Board, has called for a special park meeting tonight at 7 in the Venice Recreation Center, 325 Broadway, Venice.

Discussion will be on the extension of the Summer Recreation Program. At the last meeting July 8, the Venice Park Board voted to end the Summer Recreation Program as scheduled on Aug. 6.

"After looking into the matter, I feel the park district should extend the program for two weeks. There will be no cost to the Venice Park District at all," commented Williams. "The only recreation the children has is what the park district offers. I hope the other board members will vote to give the children two more weeks of fun."

At the meeting, Park Commissioner Earl Hogan will present a petition to extend the program. "I have 100 signatures of children and parents who wish to extend the program for two more weeks. The children will be going there anyway for the food program, they might as well participate in recreation," said Hogan.

The summer recreation program consists of arts, crafts, movies, roller skating, swimming, volleyball, softball, tennis, basketball, dodgeball, water slides and St. Louis Cardinal games. The program is on Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"When the children are at the recreation program, they have something to do besides hang around the streets. This way, their parents know where they are most of the day," Rev. Williams noted.

Development Center registration

The Tri-City Park Child Development Center will register children for the 1982-83 school year on Monday, August 2, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

State hopes to alter Medicaid

Governor James R. Thompson announced last week he will convene a special conference in August to consider ways to revamp the Medicaid system.

"As I said in April, the Medicaid system that the state and federal government operate right now is a crazy quilt—consisting of often foolish regulations that make the whole system irrational," Thompson said.

"I pledged then to bring the groups together and try to make Illinois a testing ground for a system that is reasonable not only for providers but also for recipients and taxpayers."

"I will bring together officials from all areas of the health care professions at the conference to consider changes in Medicaid to make it more fair, reasonable and cost-effective."

"The results will then be reviewed by me, my staff and the Department of Public Aid, which administers the Medicaid program in Illinois. The $1.6 billion Medicaid program in this state is funded jointly by the state and federal governments."

"These changes will be referred to the U.S. House of Representatives," Thompson said.

"The current regulations were piloted so the state can implement the revised rules on a pilot basis," the governor said.

Thompson and Public Aid Director Jeffrey C. Miller said medical assistance spending in Illinois was $30 million less during the 12 months ending June 1982 than during the preceding 12 months. It was the first such reduction in a decade.

Thompson attributed the reduced spending in part to the department's medical assistance cost-containment initiatives, placed in operation in 1981.

"Throughout the fiscal year, public aid rolls increased dramatically," Thompson said.

"Measures to control medical spending were timely, in that they allowed Public Aid to serve growing numbers of clients while keeping a lid on medical costs."

Assistance spending declined by 2.5 percent compared to 1980-81. From 1979-80 to 1980-81, such spending had risen by 20 percent. And the rise was 15 percent between 1978-79 and 79-80.

Overall, medical assistance spending in fiscal year 1982 totaled $1.48 billion, compared with $1.52 billion in the previous year.

Public aid medical assistance programs include Medicaid, aid to the medically indigent, and medical coverage for Chicago general assistance recipients.

Seek outside judge to weigh bias issue

A judge from outside the Third Circuit will be asked to rule whether Ben S. Urban should be tried in the circuit or outside it.

Accused of using a photocopy method to obtain court orders in Madison County, Urban last week asked that an out-of-town judge hear his case.

Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson on Thursday granted the motion as it applied to him, citing an "automatic" right to object to the first assigned judge.

Chief Circuit Judge Joseph

Barr decided that an outside judge should be brought in to determine whether Urban remained Third Circuit judge and associate judges should be disqualified. His request was sent to Roy O. Gulley, state court administrator, who would arrange the assignment of another judge through the Illinois Supreme Court.

Urban, 41, Collinsville, contends that all area judges are prejudiced against him. He is free on $50,000 bond; theft and forgery charges allege that he used fake court orders to obtain thousands of dollars in bond funds posted by arrested truck drivers whose loaded vehicles were found to have excessive weight on Interstate 55-70 near Collinsville.

Authorities say more than $100,000 was fraudulently obtained by someone, and some of the allegations have been filed against Urban.

Urban says some judges oppose him because he earlier filed a complaint about them with the judicial commission. He also notes that some area judges may be called as witnesses in his trial.

He resigned as Collinsville city attorney shortly before being indicted, citing published reports that he was under investigation. The truck bond accusations are not related to his city duties.

Plant staff

increasing the hourly production work from 22 persons to 30. There also are six to seven persons in the clerical staff and three supervisory employees, the manager noted.

Michigan Metals was equipped through a Granite City-backed tax-free industrial revenue bond issue in 1979. It opened that spring, leasing a portion of the former Commonwealth plant from National Steel Corp., which now owns those buildings along the west side of State Street on the north edge of the Granite City-Madison-Venice borderline.

Michigan Metals specializes in steel processing, "which steel manufacturers don't have the time to do or don't want to do anymore," Wonseller stated.

Work includes pickling, leveling and cutting to length of heavy gauge steel.

Wonseller said the plant will continue to process all orders received and will "keep in as profitable a position as we can." The workforce, however, will remain dependent upon orders received. "We go week by week in this business," the plant manager concluded.

"We will continue to operate as we have in the past," Albert Jackson, company president, said from Detroit today. "We have no plans to close," he told the Press-Record.

Jackson said the company does not know how long it will continue to operate under Chapter 11. "Some companies operate under Chapter 11 for years, and some for a few months," he commented.

He resigned as Collinsville city attorney shortly before being indicted, citing published reports that he was under investigation. The truck bond accusations are not related to his city duties.

Madison charges Greenville man

Responding to a report of a man with a gun walking near Fifth Street and McCambridge Avenue, Madison, at 11:30 p.m. Saturday, the Madison Police Department charged a man with carrying a dangerous weapon in his hand.

When the officer drew his own weapon and ordered the man to halt, Montgomery reportedly threw something in nearby weeds.

A 22-caliber chrome-plated semi-automatic pistol with one round in the chamber and three rounds in the magazine was recovered from the weeds.

Montgomery, 24, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a firearm owner identification card.

Cannabis alleged

Kenneth D. Dunham, 19, of 2804 Edwards St. was charged with trespassing and possessing marijuana Thursday in the 2900 block of Denver Street. He was released later that day and is to return for a hearing.

Utility hearing

dividuals and groups to attend and express their views.

"The hearing will continue until all Friday, when we wish to address Illinois Power's rate increase request have an opportunity to speak."

"It is not necessary to register in advance or to provide written materials prior to the hearing."

The utility has estimated that many residential electric bills might rise by $5 to $13 a month, with natural gas rising $8 a month.

Tim Earley, staff director of the Illinois Public Interest Research Group, said last week that families' power costs would rise by about one-fourth and that gas supplied to homes would cost 15 percent more than at present.

His not-for-profit group was among the parties asking to intervene in the case. He noted that 80 percent of Troy's registered voters have signed petitions protesting utility rate increase proposals, and that several industries are fighting higher rates, as are representatives of the governor's Consumer Services Office.

Earley alleges that Illinois Power is not active enough in encouraging residential customers to conserve energy.

He plans to testify that conservation has been occurring anyway, due to the high cost of utility services. The economic recession also is considered to be a factor.

As IPIRG sees it, Illinois Power did not expect consumption to fall 6.6 percent in 1981, when it did. IP income was less than projected despite an electric rate hike, prompting still another rate increase request.

IPIRG is critical of any change in "facilities" charges. Earley says that if higher monthly charges are allowed for meter-reading and other customer services not affected by volume of use, families will not be able to adjust their habits and "protect themselves" from bigger utility bills.

Charles Lippa, ICC hearing examiner, last week said all testimony will be recorded and reviewed by the ICC before a final decision is made on electric rates and gas.

Impromptu comments will be permitted, but all who speak will have to identify themselves, he added.

Steiner issued a new statement on IP rates Friday, saying that the utility "always claims that inflation is a major reason for its rate hikes, but the truth is that IP's rates are going up two to three times faster than the overall inflation rate."

"The fuel adjustment clause and the gas purchase adjustment provide IP with a safe hedge against inflation, without general rate boosts."

"For example, even if this rate increase proposal is denied, IP still expects electric rates for low-use residential customers to go up 23.3 percent by the end of next year. For residential gas customers, a rise of 43.3 percent is predicted."

"If the entire rate hike request is approved, the increases for these two groups would be 59.8 percent and 65.5 percent, respectively," he related.

"The facilities charge—a fee customers pay for being connected to the IP system—theoretically pays for metering, the service drop and customer services."

"For residential electric customers, IP wants to raise the charge from $3 for rate one to $15.50."

"For rate two, the charge would go from $5.10 to $10.50 per month. For rate three, it would increase from the present $10.10 to $15.50."

"For residential gas customers, the current charge is $3.75 and IP wants $10."

"In other words, if a given ratepayer were to use no gas or electricity for an entire month, he or she could still receive a bill of $19.50 to $25.50 if IP gets its way."

Steiner concluded, "Madison Concerned Citizens feel that the public hearing is very important to residents of this community and surrounding communities to give them the opportunity to express their feelings about the IP rate request."

"We also would like for people to come to the rally one hour before the hearing. We will march as a body from the City Hall of Granite City to the Granite City Township Building in time for the hearing."

Steel pay

million net tons, compared with 6.7 million tons in May and 10.4 million in June 1981.

For the first half of 1982, production stood at 42.7 million tons, compared with 65.4 million tons in the first half of 1981.

The European Economic Community offered Thursday to cut steel exports to U.S. If the Reagan administration drops proposed duties on allegedly unfairly priced steel imports. This offer was rejected the same day in Washington.

Belgium, France, Britain and Italy pledged to reduce their export volume so their share of the U.S. market would fall 10 percent below the 1981 level. Luxembourg, West Germany and Holland offered to not exceed their 1981 exports to America.

Earlier last week, officials of Japan's second largest steel company, Nippon Steel, blamed "misunderstandings" after its U.S. subsidiary was indicted for conspiring to dump bargain-priced steel on the U.S. market.

A steel industry report issued last week in Pittsburgh said basic steel, with its employment already at a 49-year low, is down another 100,000 jobs and $2 billion by 1990 if present trends continue.

It contended that companies will be unable to generate enough capital to keep pace with competitors if labor costs continue to rise. It also voiced concern about inflation in the cost of materials.

Many workers say that an overly gloomy picture is being given by their employers, but they concede that the domestic steel industry has been operating at a loss for less than half of its production capacity—an obviously serious situation.

First-quarter reports of six of the top eight steelmakers showed operating losses.

National award

in cardiac teaching.

"With the continued encouragement and assistance of Dr. Martin, plans were made for a four-bed unit where teaching could be done more intensively and patients could be more closely monitored."

"A cardiovascular nursing class was developed, along with additional educational information, to provide a staff familiar with cardiac disease and complications—and which would have the special skills required to respond effectively to cardiac emergencies."

"A planning team conducted research, contacting other hospitals with programs already in operation. Cardiologists on the staff were surveyed and their ideas and requests were incorporated into the teaching plans."

In February 1980, the unit was opened under the supervision of Bobbi Jones, RN. It was used extensively from the beginning and soon was expanded from four to ten beds.

When she, Jones left SEMC to go into anesthesia work, the unit continued to grow under the supervision of Karla Bergel, RN. The cardiac unit expanded again to its current capacity of 15 beds.

"As the program developed, a need was seen to keep the unit closely allied with the intensive care unit in order to provide continuity of care and education," it was explained.

For the reason, the managerial staff and a team of nurses, including Bierbaum, RN, intensive care supervisor, became supervisor of both units, with assistant supervisors Jane Brown, RN, and Val Buder, RN, in charge of intensive care and cardiac rehab, respectively.

Vicki Young, RN, and Gail Osterbur, RN, became SEMC's first nurse-clinicians, coordinating education for the nursing staff of both units.

"Diane Barnum, unit manager, has been an integral part of the program since its inception," the spokesman said.

"As the unit has grown in size, it has expanded in scope and staff. Assistant Head Supervisor Val Buder, a member of the rehab staff since the unit opened, noted, 'Our program has changed a lot since it began. It's been a constant process of adding to and improving it."

Changes have been made as patients, physicians and the rehab staff have identified new needs.

As a result of suggestions, the nursing staff expanded medication teaching to include a self-medication program. And more in-depth information about medication was made available.

A primary nursing care approach was incorporated into the program to assure continuity of care and consistency in the evaluation of teaching, and to promote good nurse-patient relationships.

"As we've seen for different types of specialized teaching, we've developed a multi-disciplinary team system, adding the expertise of other professionals besides our nursing staff," Val Buder said.

Dietician Excey Basuel conducts cardiac diet classes as well as individual teaching.

Social worker Pat Sutton teaches stress management classes and assists patients with discharge planning."

Sally Ragan of the occupational and physical therapy department conducts craft classes and provides leisure counseling and relaxation therapy.

Video specialist Bob Gill has worked with the rehab nursing staff to develop a series of comprehensive teaching tapes.

A service for discharged patients, called the Heartline, has been added to the program.

When these patients have questions, they simply dial the Heartline telephone number. A rehab staff member answers their questions or refer them to their physicians.

"Former cardiac patients seem to keep in touch regardless of their condition. They stop by to visit with the staff or just call to talk."

"After patients have been through the cardiac rehab program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the assistant head supervisor said, 'they just become part of the family.'"

Additional Council actions - at a glance

Additional Granite City Council and Township discussions and actions taken last week include the following.

The Street Department is the tentative winner in plans to divide the less than 10 percent that will remain in this year's expected $221,500 federal revenue sharing fund after 90 percent is deducted to support the city's payroll. Street Superintendent Mac Warfield is requesting pickup trucks, bob-tail trucks and a road-bed spreader. Also tentatively budgeted is $27,000 to replace an aging city ambulance.

According to Alderman Sharon Perjak, Fourth Ward, several filling stations owners are withholding payment of the city's new $100 business license fee in protest of the charge, and are being threatened by legal action as a result. Mrs. Perjak said some owners consider the charge too high in comparison to fees charged similar business operations. Automobile repair shops are charged a base fee of $50. At a previous council session, Mayor Paul Schuler requested aldermen to study the new ordinance for problems and to bring in all their requests for changes at once.

After a public hearing, the Granite City Township Budget was approved by the aldermen, who also act as town board members. The budget listed more than $1.02 million in receipts, including past revenues carried over from last year, and $786,442 in expenditures for this budget year, which started in March. The sole revenue-sharing capital improvement to come from the current budget will be a partial payment for a new township roof.

Town Fund expenses totaling $340,622 include $29,000, administrative officers; $197,010, assessors' deputies, office and expenses; $47,000, town hall expenses; and $10,912, town collector's expenses. The $242,654 expenses in the General Assistance Fund include $92,154 for administrators and expenses, and $148,000 for food, clothing, medical and housing expenses. The Federal Revenue-Sharing Fund expenses totaling $153,166 includes $47,500, town hall maintenance and new roof; $72,366, van drivers, dispatcher, and facilities director; and approximately $20,000 for other van expenses.

Illinois guide published

HMB Publications of Hammond, Ind. has announced the publication of a new Illinois historic travel guide and reader titled, "Trails To Illinois Heritage." The new illustrated, 120-page paperback is authored by Harry Black of Hammond. It is his fourth published work.

The idea of a "Trails To" series of books came to the author after he completed a work on his home state titled, "Trails To Hoosier Heritage." That publication is now in its third printing. Black chose Illinois as his second book in the series because he has family ties in the Prairie State. His father was born and raised in Paris. The author remembers his father driving the family to Paris in his trusty sedan down a one-lane dirt and one-lane concrete road.

Black estimates that he has traveled more than 5,000 miles in Illinois while writing the book. Black discovered that the Prairie State encompasses land. A village across the Mississippi River was the home of the only prehistoric Indian city north of Mexico, and has an active ferryboat service across the Wabash River that has been operating since 1818. The author writes about a number of flourishing communities in the early history of Illinois. Several of these locations are known to the local people, but remain lost in the pages of history to the general populace of the state.

Interspersed among the lesser known sites are some of the more popular points of historic interest in Illinois. Black gives his readers the background of the location, what there is to see of historical significance, and how to get there. The author shows an exuberance for Illinois in his book. He has publicly stated that if he had taken all the tempting byways among his planned routes across the Prairie State it would have taken him years to complete the book.

"Trails To Illinois Heritage" is available at most bookstores or can be ordered from the publisher for $5.50 plus 65-cents for postage and handling.

ARREST AS FUGITIVE FROM KANSAS CASE

A shoplifting investigation last week at Shop and Save, 3250 Nameoki Road, led to the arrest of Robert B. Dale, 21, St. Louis, in an auto southbound in the 1700 block of Madison Avenue. He was booked for retail theft and for driving with a suspended license, and as a fugitive from a Junction City, Kan., warrant.

Three women with him, Neva Ivory, 17, Delisa Wiley, 18, and Donna Brooks, 19, all of Brooklyn, were charged with theft after cigarettes were found in the car. The three were released at 10:10 p.m. Monday on notices to appear for hearings, and Dale was released on $1,156 cash bail after pleading innocent.

Tax on GC cable TV users probable

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City will soon try to apply its five percent telephone utility tax to the city's more than 5,000 South-Western cable television users.

The new source of revenue could add roughly $60,000 in extra income to the city's coffers, City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic believes.

Mayor Paul Schuler said Thursday city officials are in the process of discussing the procedure with the cable company. The mayor said he expects the tax to be applied in the near future.

The tax perhaps should have been added to local cable bills at the time the city became effective at the start of this year, according to Mayor Schuler.

South-Western Cable TV, Inc., administrators may however, try to prevent the city from applying the tax to its services.

The tax law—written to apply to all electronically transmitted messages—would include cable television operations, in the opinion of city officials.

The tax apparently is to be applied to companies based on five percent of the amount of the cable user's entire bill, judging by the revenue estimate.

Hill heads county Bar

M. Joseph Hill, attorney at law, of Edwardsville and partner of the firm of Matveyka, Hill and Hill, offices in Granite City, Edwardsville and Highland, has been elected president of the Madison County Bar Association.

Hill obtained his law degree from St. Louis University in 1967 and has been engaged in the practice of law in Madison County since 1968. He previously served as president of the Quad-City Bar Association, Illinois State Bar Association, Trial Lawyers of America and the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association.

Madison County Bar Association is a county-wide bar association having a membership of ap-

The Madison County Bar Association also acts as a liaison to the Madison County Courts for the improvement of the judicial system and the court facilities in Madison County, he added.

Troopers cutting highway death toll

With the state's budget squeeze in mind, state troopers here are utilizing innovative ways to help them perform their tasks.

"The basic duty of a police agency, to protect the lives and property of citizens and to suppress crime, is a tremendous responsibility."

"It involves varied work and sometimes, dangerous tasks. Like many other state agencies, the Illinois State Police is operating with limited funds and manpower," Illinois State Police Supt. R. J. Miller said Friday.

"An effort to better utilize the available manpower to fulfill its obligations, I implemented a program for Results in Progress (FPR) in July 1981."

"Under this program, each state police district throughout Illinois identified certain problems in its area and established certain goals to help resolve those problems."

"The primary goal established statewide was to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities reduction."

"This is being accomplished by increased enforcement of specific violations in those areas that have been identified as high accident rate highways."

"During June, there were 147 traffic deaths in Illinois. The toll is 728 for the first six months of 1982. This is a reduction of 141 compared to the same period last year."

"District Eleven based at Maryville had 13 traffic fatalities in June, and 47 during the first six months of 1982. The latter figure is a reduction of 16 compared to the same period last year."

"Policing For Results in District Eleven in the first half of 1982 brought about an increase of 86 percent in the number of DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol) arrests—256 in 1982 vs. 138 in 1981."

"Speed surveys in the district indicate a compliance rate of 37 percent, which is above the 50 percent required by the federal government."

"Traffic stops by District Eleven troopers led to 504 criminal arrests. Also, 8,460 overweight trucks were stopped and the excess load removed," Miller concluded.

Captain Laimutus A. Nargelinas, commander, District Eleven, said, "The FPR efforts have been effective in achieving our overall goal of accident reduction."

"Our district has shown a 25 percent reduction in traffic fatalities," he said.

Treatment plant

blaming the removal on his criticism of the plant's operations.

As part of the council's annual reorganization, the mayor also is ending Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler's service as chairman of the finance committee, naming Sixth Ward Alderman Walter Milton as his replacement.

The committee and chairmanship appointments are traditionally made in May, but objections to appointment procedures delayed the process this year.

Alderman Bowler said a change of appointments is good for the council, but disagreed with the manner the new chairmen were allowed on the committees. Bowler cited an ordinance limiting committees to three members.

None of the new chairmen appointed for the treatment plant, finance, and street and alley committees previously were members of those committees, Bowler said.

Their appointments as chairmen were possible only after they became fourth members of the committees, he added.

Decatur said he will still consider himself chairman of the treatment plant committee during a 6:30 p.m. caucus discussion of the council's 8 p.m. regular meeting. The council may consider the new committee assignments at the 8 p.m. session, after reviewing the budget outlook at the caucus.

The mayor does not need council approval for the chairmanship selections, but must make his choices from among committee members decided upon by the aldermen.

Tomorrow's deliberations are the last scheduled for the council before Saturday's deadline for enactment of the municipality's May 1982-April 1983 budget and appropriation ordinance.

Mayor Schuler said he is planning to use the same deadline restrictions on passage of the wastewater plant's budget, despite a proposal last week to separate the wastewater budget from the remainder of the city's budget.

Alderman Milton, who requested the separation, said he found $8.7 million general fund and ambulance budgeting acceptable, but considered a projected $2.5 million wastewater plant budget—with its built-in $8.89 per quarter rate hike—a stumbling block to passage of either budget.

Expected to be among the sewage plant issues raised Tuesday night are:

—Would a cutback in the treatment plant staff substantially affect the expected rate in rates to residential and industrial users?

Decatur says seven layoffs could cut an $8.89 increase in half. Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan said Friday that manpower costs are remaining stable while funding is increasing due to needed plant repairs and funding for bond, reserve and depreciation accounts.

Employee salaries and personal services total $612,310, according to City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, who says more than $1.02 million is needed this year to defray capital outlay, bond and bond reserve requirements.

—How much should families and industries pay for sewage treatment (a federal clean-water mandate)?

Both the mayor and Decatur agree on keeping the rate hike within the $4.50 per quarter range. But Decatur proposes it be accomplished with seven layoffs at a saving of about $189,000.

Schuler has suggested eliminating a $500,000 capital improvement expenditure and $175,000 budgeted for a second year.

He has since revised his view on the bond reserve after an opinion by the city attorney, Mayor Schuler now suggests a saving of $75,000 for the reserve accounts, but still wants no capital outlay in 1982-83.

The city comptroller and treatment plant superintendent—who don't get to vote on it—both say a good case could be made for an $8.89 increase.

They warn that even more than $500,000 may be needed to bring the plant up to Environmental Protection Agency standards. As the basis for this, they cite an EPA grant close-out study on the plant.

—What changes in plant operations might mean greater future efficiency? Among the points Decatur and Schuler made up at Tuesday's caucus, based on a tour they made of the Alton and Belleville sewage facilities, are:

Conversion to residential billing based on flow volume rather than flat rates; financial planning now for future sludge disposal; an alarm system to replace some of the weekend plant employees; and hiring a consultant to survey the plant and make recommendations.

McMillan said he and the new wastewater plant committee will begin their own tour of plants of similar size, for comparison purposes and to help plan for the best method of sludge disposal.

Sludge disposition may become "very costly" next July under the present disposal system, predictions

McMillan said. Schuler already has arranged for a week of free consulting by Sverdrup & Parcel & Associates, Inc., St. Louis, to study sludge disposal possibilities.

The mayor related he also will ask for the state's assistance in reevaluating the plant. He is still hoping that some Glen Carbon users may be asked by the EPA to connect onto Granite City lines for primary and secondary treatment here.

McMillan said that to repair and properly conduct on-line testing of monitoring systems now at the plant would take more than two years.

Even then, he would not recommend automatic monitoring without a man on duty, he said.

McMillan explained that the person, on duty would cut the response time, in the event of a failure, and would help prevent equipment damage and city flooding conditions.

—What extent staff cooperation and efficiency have played or will play in successfully running the plant?

Decatur and Varadan contend some employees have not worked to upgrade their licenses; lead operators should perform all necessary work duties; employees should start more training programs; and McMillan should work in the mornings while his assistant, Terry Kelahan, works afternoons.

The report does not mention past absenteeism.

Both McMillan and Kelahan said Friday they strongly support the majority of employees at the plant and that disciplinary action had been taken against past abuses.

Despite progress that has been made, Kelahan said, employees are continuing to feel a communitywide "backlash" against them and their performance.

As a public relations move, McMillan said, he has forbidden employees to leave the plant during their lunch period; he believes their visibility outside the plant grounds might be misinterpreted by residents of neighborhoods near the plant.

Both said wastewater employees have complied or are complying with most of the aldermen's recommendations.

Decatur said he believes he has the support of at least five of the 13 aldermen expected to be present at tomorrow's caucus.

$100,000 bond for aggravated battery in GC

A charge of aggravated battery was filed here last week, along with counts of armed violence and grand theft, against Tom K. Montfort, 27, Jacksonville, Fla.

Bond was set at $100,000 after he appeared in court in Granite City. He was transferred two hours later to the Madison County jail.

He was apprehended 20 hours after a knife attack on a woman, Robin Kee, 23, of the 2300 block of Benton Street.

She suffered several deep lacerations to the throat and superficial lacerations to her face and was transferred from St. Elizabeth Medical Center to Belleville Memorial Hospital.

She had met a man as a "pen pal" and he came here two weeks ago to discuss marriage. When an argument developed during the weekend, he obtained a butcher knife and another knife and began slashing at her throat.

He forced her to mop up the blood and to write notes giving him permission to drive her auto and absolving him of blame for the knife wounds.

The man appeared to have hallucinations in which he reported seeing Orientals at the windows. After he left in his 1976 auto, she summoned police.

Between the court appearance and his transfer to the county, Montfort was placed in a strait-jacket in response to self-destructive comments.

ARRESTED JUVENILE BOY

LOOT MECHANIC SHOP
Six screwdrivers valued at a total of $65 were stolen last week from the mechanical shop at the Granite City street department. Stolen there earlier were two $35 socket sets.

A suit by former Granite City Journal editor Alice Curless-Gibson against that paper is set to begin in East Alton today.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson has charged in a circuit court complaint that the Missouri-owned paper failed to abide by a one-year contract agreement when the publication dismissed her without notice on Oct. 21, 1981.

She was one of four employees fired by Publisher Daniel Donnelly that week. Two of those former employees have received out-of-court settlements, said to exceed $3,000 each, after filing charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson is asking for actual and punitive damages. Frequently named in correspondence with the NLRB, the Journal has been criticized often over a period of months and years by labor groups, including members of the Newspaper Guild, the International Typographical Union and the AFL-CIO.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson was named editor after the firing of editor George Williams during union organizing efforts.

An appeal is pending before the NLRB on an order that the Journal negotiate with the Guild and not threaten employees with firing for pro-union activity.

Former management employees said they were accused of failing to work actively enough against union organizing.

After a number of news and advertising staff members lost their jobs in the spring of 1981, publisher Rod Sanders also was fired that year by Donnelly Publications.

Q. With two small children, my wife and I are trying to establish a plan for the future. How much money do we need to set aside in a savings account?

A. A good question, however there is no general answer which will fit everyone's situation. For example, if your family's immediate goal is to buy your own home within the next four years, the required down payment will be a major factor in determining the amount which should be deposited in a savings account each month. However, if you aren't planning any major purchases but want to set aside a prudent amount for handling emergencies, this amount will also vary from family to family. A few years ago, the "rule of thumb" was the family savings account should be maintained at no less than three month's living costs. However, today, many financial planning experts believe it is wise to have four to six months' living costs held in reserve. Whatever your individual goals and needs, we will be happy to work with you to establish a savings plan, with the greatest return, secure for you and your family, when you need it.

Girl raped; nab suspect

A 16-year-old Madison girl was raped by two men last week because the Merion Hills Bridge highline near the Venice riverfront while a 20-year-old male relative was held at knifepoint. Both assailants threatened the victim and her companion with knives.

An alleged rapist is in custody. Venice police are seeking informational documents today from the Madison County state's attorney against the Granite City.

Cooperative action between Venice, Madison and Granite City police is continuing in the case.

The second man, currently being sought, is about five feet, six inches tall with a muscular build. He has a badly-marked complexion and curly, sandy-colored hair.

The girl and a cousin, also from Madison, were sitting on the steps of a church at 14th Street and Edwardsville Road when a vehicle stopped. The passenger in the car asked if they wanted to "party."

The girl said "no," telling the men she and her companion were waiting for her father to pick them up, but she did give them a light for a cigarette when asked. One of the men said he thought she was a cousin from school, but the girl's companion denied knowing him.

The men said they were "just going to drive around the block" and the girl and her cousin were pushed into the car. The driver then headed down Madison Avenue toward Venice, traveling through some back streets and emerging near the levee, police were told.

Once under the bridge, the driver forced the girl out of the vehicle and, holding a knife to her throat, pushed her onto the hood of the car.

After she was raped, the passenger, who also had a knife and remained in the vehicle with the cousin, got out of the car and started to rape the girl.

While both assailants were outside the vehicle, the cousin locked the car doors and tried to start the engine, which failed to immediately turn over.

The men threatened to kill the girl if he didn't open the door and one of them, the driver, began opening the car hood to try to disconnect the battery wires. At this point, the cousin jumped from the auto and ran away to seek help.

While the men were distracted by the cousin's efforts to escape, the girl grabbed clothing from the ground and also ran, hiding in nearby weeds.

A few moments later, the men got the car started and left. She began calling her cousin's name and heard him answer.

The cousin had seen a train coming over the Merchants Bridge and ran toward it. The engineer slowed the train and the cousin jumped on the engine and told what was happening beneath the bridge.

The engineer radioed for police assistance. Soon, the girl could be heard calling for her cousin and she made her way to the train and was given a shirt to wear by the engineer.

She was taken for medical treatment and was interviewed by officers.

The Edwardsville Road (Route 203) railroad crossing between 14th and 20th Streets, at the Granite City Steel rail and truck crossing, is being closed for repairs today and will remain closed through Friday.

Traffic will be detoured around the crossing. Rubber crossing surfaces are to be installed to make the railroad crossing smoother for vehicular traffic.

Suit against GC Journal to be heard

A suit by former Granite City Journal editor Alice Curless-Gibson against that paper is set to begin in East Alton today.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson has charged in a circuit court complaint that the Missouri-owned paper failed to abide by a one-year contract agreement when the publication dismissed her without notice on Oct. 21, 1981.

She was one of four employees fired by Publisher Daniel Donnelly that week. Two of those former employees have received out-of-court settlements, said to exceed $3,000 each, after filing charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson is asking for actual and punitive damages. Frequently named in correspondence with the NLRB, the Journal has been criticized often over a period of months and years by labor groups, including members of the Newspaper Guild, the International Typographical Union and the AFL-CIO.

Mrs. Curless-Gibson was named editor after the firing of editor George Williams during union organizing efforts.

An appeal is pending before the NLRB on an order that the Journal negotiate with the Guild and not threaten employees with firing for pro-union activity.

Former management employees said they were accused of failing to work actively enough against union organizing.

After a number of news and advertising staff members lost their jobs in the spring of 1981, publisher Rod Sanders also was fired that year by Donnelly Publications.

Mouldon's clutch hit lifts Triplets past E'ville 11-8

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — In American Legion baseball, the ninth man in the line-up can be as deadly as anyone else. Jim Mouldon of the Tri-City team was deadly Sunday.

Mouldon, who started the season on the Tri-City junior legion team, hit a two-run double in the fifth inning to give the Triplets an 11-8 lead over Edwardsville in the District 22 North Division playoffs Sunday. Mouldon's hit proved to be the margin of victory as the Triplets coasted to the win.

Tri-City played Collinsville at Alton in a 6 p.m. game today. Edwardsville is now eliminated from the double elimination playoffs.

Tri-City came on strong late in the regular season and has been hot ever since because of timely hitting up and down the line-up, and Mouldon has been a part of Tri-City's surge.

Mouldon, called up in the middle of the season because the Triplets needed more players, had a bout of nervousness in the start of the season. However, he has settled down to become a part of Tri-City's balanced hitting.

"I was happy to be on the team," Mouldon said. "There was a little bit of pressure to do well since I was the newest guy on the team. I began to hit better" and started to feel more relaxed.

Mouldon, who will be a junior at Granite City South, got a lot of playing experience in the second half of the season, and Tri-City manager Al Yount noticed the improvements.

"It's a lot to ask of a sophomore to come up and get a big hit. He's a good player. He's a good bunter who can get the sacrifice for us, and sometimes he'll come through with a big hit," Yount said.

Sometimes he gets a little down on himself when he strikes out, but all young players do that when they come up to the senior legion, strike out and get down on themselves. He's started to hit, and he's contributed quite a bit to the team," Yount said.

Mouldon's clutch hit came with the score tied 8-8 in the fifth. Daren DePew moved the inning with a double and opened to third on a wild pitch. George Jarvis walked and stole second.

Milt Roe grounded out the third base line, and DePew was tagged out by Edwardsville third baseman Dave Vieth. Vieth's throw to first was wild, and Jarvis and Roe advanced to third and second.

Mouldon scored Tri-City's final run on John Linhart's single to right field. Mouldon was also instrumental in Tri-City's fourth inning. Jarvis singled and Roe walked, and Mouldon advanced both runs with a sacrifice bunt. Rick Buer and Linhart had back-to-back singles to score Jarvis and Roe. Linhart scored on Rick Daily's single.

By far, this game was a hitter's duel. Both Tri-City and Edwardsville used three pitchers because the heat and humidity wore the pitchers out.

Darrell Harris started the game for Tri-City. Harris felt sick prior to the game, and Edwardsville got three runs off him in the first and third innings. Edwardsville pitcher Dean Schulmeister was also treated rudely.

The Triplets got three runs in the first and fourth innings and two runs in the third inning off Schulmeister.

Tri-City's first inning highlight was a two run home run by Daily over the left field fence. The home run was disputed by Edwardsville because they contended the ball bounced over the fence. Yarnik lost the ball in the haze and could not tell if it had bounced.

Mike Zukas took over for Harris in the third and picked up the win. Zukas lasted until the seventh inning when he tired from the heat. Danny Patterson picked up the save for Tri-City.

"The heat really hurt the pitchers from both teams," Yount said. "It wasn't bad on the arms, but the pitchers were tired from the heat."

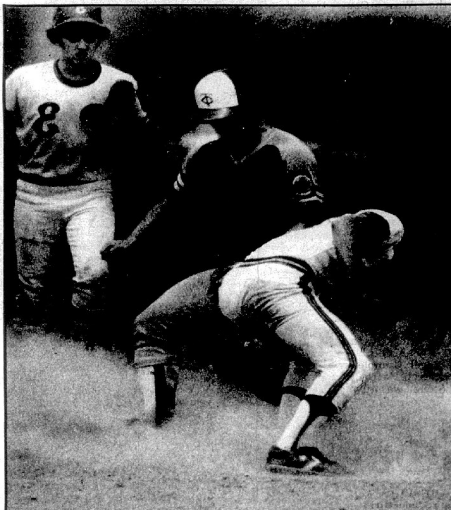

Tri-City also cut down on its mistakes from the night before when it lost to Collinsville 3-2. The Triplets only had two errors and no wild pitches.

"We cut down on our errors, and that always helps because that's when the other teams scores. Cutting down on mistakes is the name of the game," Yount said.

While the Triplets were cutting their errors, Edwardsville made one error and other mistakes which don't show up in the scorebook.

Linhart was 3-for-4 for Tri-City as was Rich Fletcher for Edwardsville. Tri-City 11

BEAT THE TAG. Rick Buer easily beat the tag of Edwardsville's second baseman Kevin King in the first inning of Tri-City's 11-8 victory over Edwardsville Sunday in a District 22 North Division double elimination tournament game at Granite City North. Buer eventually scored Tri-City's first run of the game.

Rematch tonight

Collinsville jinx kayos Triplets for third time 3-2

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — Al Yount, manager of the Tri-City American Legion baseball team, noted the Triplets' season has had its ups and downs. The Triplets took the up-and-down style to extremes Saturday when they lost to Collinsville 3-2.

Collinsville had the bases loaded with one out when Paul Wedesky, Collinsville's designated hitter, batted. Joe Schnefke pitched strike one past Wedesky.

Before the next pitch, Collinsville manager Fred McClary gave him the bunt sign for the squeeze play. Schnefke threw Wedesky another strike, but Wedesky didn't bunt.

However, Glenn Hefflin, who was on third base, started for home, and Tri-City caught him in a rundown. Hefflin was eventually tagged out by Schnefke, but Collinsville's Daren Buehrer advanced to third on the rundown.

District 22 playoffs

The next pitch Schnefke threw sailed past catcher Daren DePew, and Buehrer scored the winning run.

Fielding miscues set up Collinsville's scoring in the second inning. Steve Blumner reached on shortstop Rick Daily's error and went to second on a wild pitch. Hefflin grounded to Daily, and the shortstop tried to get Blumner out at third. The tag was late, and Collinsville had runners on first and third.

Keith Hayden then hit a double in the

at least 2-1," Yount said.

Indeed, Collinsville took the lead early, but Tri-City was scrappy enough to come back to tie the game.

Fielding miscues set up Collinsville's scoring in the second inning. Steve Blumner reached on shortstop Rick Daily's error and went to second on a wild pitch. Hefflin grounded to Daily, and the shortstop tried to get Blumner out at third. The tag was late, and Collinsville had runners on first and third.

Keith Hayden then hit a double in the

Tri-City bounced back with single runs in the third and fifth innings.

Jim Mouldon singled in the third, and Rick Buer followed with a triple in left center field for the RBI.

Buer got another RBI in the fifth inning. Darrell Harris reached on a fielder's choice, moved to second on an error by pitcher Dave Lambert, and scored on Buer's double to left center field.

The Triplets missed a chance for more runs in that inning. Lambert walked both John Linhart and Danny Patterson to load the bases. Lambert regained his control to strike out Daily to end the inning.

Other than the wild pitch, Schnefke pitched one of his better games despite losing his first game of the year. Schnefke is 6-1 for the season.

"He pitched a pretty good game," Yount said. "His control was pretty good. We should have won by at least 2-1 had it not for the errors."

"Errors are going to beat you in a short series like this," McClary said. "We got a couple of breaks and we were able to win, but we made a few mistakes ourselves to get them back in it."

Schnefke struck out only two batters, but he kept the ball low for the most part and gave up just four hits.

Lambert, Schnefke's counterpart, struck out seven and gave up only three hits, two of those to Buer.

"Lambert looks lackadaisical out there sometimes, but he's got good control and he goes out and does the job for us," McClary said.

Jr. Legionnaires meet Thoman Boothe tonight

For the Granite City Junior Legionnaires of the North St. Louis County League, a second place finish in the Eastern Division hinges on tonight's game against Thoman Boothe.

Both Granite City and Boothe have identical records of 11-9 in the division. The winner of tonight's game will finish behind Florissant at 15-5. This evening's game will be played at A.B.C. Park in Kirkwood at 8 p.m.

So far this season the two teams have met on two occasions. The first time, Granite City emerged 4-0 victors. The second time, July 6, Thoman Boothe edged the Granite City club

10-6. "This game will be the swing game," said Dave Wakely, coach of the Granite City team. "We're going to win this one," he said. "The boys have already told me they're going to win this one for me."

Recently, however, winning consistently has been a problem for the legionnaires. Now at 11-9, their winning percentage is .550. During the waning weeks of the season they've managed to maintain that two game spread above 500, but their winning percentage, as anticipated, has suffered.

Just last week they were 9-7, maintaining two games above .500, but their winning percentage was somewhat better at .600.

For example, their last two games have rendered the same outcome. Most recently, the legionnaires fell to Florissant 3-6. In what was actually a closer game than the score indicates, Granite City pitching held first place Florissant to just four hits. Unfortunately, Granite City had an equally difficult time with the Florissant hurlers as the hometown boys managed but two hits.

For Granite City, Jim Fletcher pitched an excellent game in relief, shutting out Florissant after the third inning. Florissant picked up a single run in the second inning and a pair of runs in the third to hold on to win.

Tuesday against Pine Lawn, it was Granite City's turn to win as they outlasted their Missouri adversaries 2-0.

For Granite City, Jim Burton went the entire game on the mound. Offensively, Granite City managed a run in the first and an insurance run in the fifth.

"Tonight's game against Thoman Boothe is the first game of the North County League playoffs. Additional information will be printed in Thursday's Press-Record.

"We hope to have a great turn out because the bigger the participation, the more events the Jaycees will sponsor. Hopefully approximately 75 to 100 children will compete," said Beyer.

Further information about the competition may be obtained by calling Ray Sampson at 876-4026.

Paddlers win abbreviated meet

The Paddlers' swimming and diving teams both defeated Gaslight of Collinsville Tuesday night in a home meet. The divers won 42-36 and the swimmers won 189-70 before the meet was called due to lightning.

Gayle McCormick, Paddlers' diving coach, said that competition from Gaslight was tough in the girls' 15 to 17 division. "They were real strong," she said.

Gaslight has a relatively large diving team which led to that portion of the meet continuing until 6:30 p.m., about 45 minutes to an hour over the usual time.

Mrs. McCormick said that Paddlers' divers performed well considering the heat and she also said they were nervous because they knew Gaslight had a strong team.

"The boys did really well. Especially the 15 to 17 boys," she said. Mrs. McCormick added that she was "very proud" of the entire team's performance.

Coleen Sonnenberg, Paddlers' swim coach, was also happy with the results, but said there was some disappointment that the meet was called early.

Swimming & Diving

"There were a lot of kids ready to swim," she said.

The point spread probably would have been the same had the meet continued, Miss Sonnenberg said. "The medley relays are a pretty good indication of who is going to win."

Paddlers won eight of 10 medley relays against Gaslight.

Both teams have meets scheduled with Summer Sport of Alton on Tuesday and Montclair of Edwardsville on Thursday. Tuesday's meet will be at Paddlers.

Mrs. McCormick said a few divers who have not competed this season will appear in those meets.

For the swimmers, Tuesday's meet is particularly important as entry times for the championships must be turned out conference officials Wednesday. Only two swimmers can be entered in each event.

"We told the kids we would just go by times. That's the fairest way," Miss Sonnenberg said. "If they don't make it, there's always next year."

Montclair, like Paddlers, is presently undefeated in the conference. Miss Sonnenberg said the two teams usually swim against each other in the last meet of the season and the competition is particularly fierce.

Diving results:

Boys 10 and under: Tom Syneczyn, first; Billy McCormick, second.

Girls 10 and under: Jenny Baker, first.

Boys 11 and 12: Mike McCormick, first; Tim Voyles, second.

Girls 11 and 12: Wendy Knollman, first; Christine Doniff, second.

Boys 13 and 14: Mark Doniff, first; Laura Landin, third.

Girls 15 to 17: Kathy Zeugin, first. Records broken during swimming competition: Eleven and 12 girls, 100-meter freestyle: Patti Martin, 1:07.41. Miss Martin broke her own record of 1:08.51.

Pitch, hit and throw competition rescheduled

Quad-City youths will again have the opportunity to compete in Pitch, Hit and Throw competition sponsored by the Jaycees on Aug. 7. After an absence of two years due to lack of interest, both boys and girls ages six to 13 may now compete in the event, according to Jaycee President, Larry Beyer.

The competition was originally scheduled for July 3 but it was rained out. There was so much interest that the Jaycees decided to reschedule the event.

Youths interested in participating should meet at Wilson Park's diamond five on Saturday at 10 a.m. to register. It is recommended that youths bring a birth certificate to verify age. Actual competition will begin at 11 a.m.

Children will compete in three age categories: six and seven years, eight and nine years, 10 and 11 years and 12 and 13 years. In each phase of competition, youths will have three opportunities to display their best efforts.

National Steel 6-month net loss is $90 million

National Steel Corp. on Thursday reported a net loss of $49.9 million, or $2.67 per share, in the second quarter of 1982, compared with earnings of $19 million, or $1.02 per share, in the second quarter of 1981. The firm owns Granite City Steel.

Revenues declined 27 percent to $805 million and steel shipments fell 29 percent to 1.3 million tons from the year-earlier quarter.

The loss for the quarter included $18.3 million from the write-off of a coke battery at the Weirton Steel Division, equivalent to 98 cents per share. This was partially offset by a LIFO (last in, first out) inventory gain of $8.3 million, or 44 cents per share.

In the first half of 1982, National Steel's losses totaled $90.1 million, or $4.82 per share, compared with income of $34.7 million, or $1.85 per share, in the first half of 1981.

The overall weakness in the economy during the second quarter put further downward pressure on steel demand, prices and profits.

High levels of imported steel mill products and finished goods, such as cars, further compounded the effects of the general economic downturn on domestic steel operations.

National's steel divisions operated at approximately 46 percent of capacity during the period, well below the break-even point.

The current economic slump appears to have hit bottom, a spokesman said, but no upturn is yet in sight.

Raw material, in-process and finished inventories have been reduced to new low levels. And intensive corporate-wide cost-redution programs are reducing National's break-even point.

During the quarter, National negotiated a $245 million line of revolving credit with a group of U.S. banks.

"We are prepared to weather this recession and take advantage of a pick-up in demand when it occurs," said Howard M. Love, chairman and president.

He said the following information concerns the second-quarter performance for National's lines of business:

— Steel group. Reflecting the severe decline in the economy and particularly in steel demand, National's steel group reported an operating loss, exclusive of non-recurring items, of $51.8 million in the second quarter as its steel production dropped to its lowest level for the period since 1958, when the corporation operated two rather than four steel plants.

Including an operating loss of $73.2 million in the first quarter, the steel group's losses for the first six months totaled $125 million before non-recurring items.

Steel production in the second quarter was 1,355,240 tons, 40 percent below the second quarter last year and 17 percent below the first quarter of 1982.

Steel shipments in the second quarter were 1,284,705 tons, 29 percent below the second quarter last year and five percent below the first quarter of 1982.

Since 1979, over 7,800 hourly and salaried steel division employees have been placed on layoff.

Steel bookings for the third quarter are slightly ahead of the depressed second-quarter rate, but well below historic levels and cannot be characterized as an upturn, Love said.

Due to lower demand for iron ore and coal in the second quarter, production was suspended at the National Steel Pellet Co., Keewatin, Minn., the Doner-Hanna Coke Plant, Buffalo, N.Y., and the Mathies and Laurel coal mines in Pennsylvania.

All other mineral resource operations are on reduced schedules.

— Fabricated products. National Steel Service

Center, Inc., and Bull Moose Tube Company operated profitably during the second quarter.

However, weak demand for oil-country tubular goods and construction products resulted in an overall operating loss of $10 million for the fabricated products group in the second quarter, versus a loss of $2 million in the first quarter of 1982.

Production at National Pipe and Tube Co., Liberty, Texas, has been reduced until inventories of oil-country pipe and casing have been worked off and demand resumes.

— Aluminum.

Weak demand and low prices for primary aluminum products resulted in an operating loss of $2 million for National Aluminum in the second quarter, compared with a small profit in the first quarter of 1982.

The subsidiary's foil operations continue to operate profitably, as demand from the packaging industry remains good.

With customer inventories low, any general improvement on the economy should be quickly reflected in new orders for aluminum, the chairman noted.

— Financial services.

National's financial service subsidiary, United Financial Corp. of California, posted a net profit of $3 million in the second quarter, virtually unchanged from the first quarter.

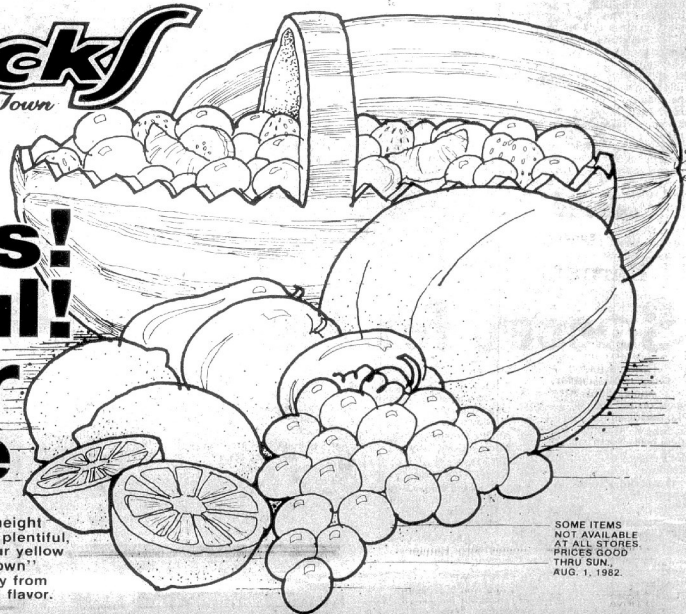

New loan sales, mortgage banking activity, and the operating and tax benefit of managing its savings and loan divisions in New York and Florida more than offset the negative yield spread caused by the ongoing high interest rate, Love concluded.

Blood drive set

According to information from the St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross, there is a shortage of blood to supply area hospitals. The chapter, which serves 146 hospitals in a 70-county area, says that 750 units of blood are needed each day, but there have not been enough blood donations this summer to keep up with this demand.

Because human blood cannot be manufactured, the only way this vital substance can be obtained is from people willing to donate blood. Area residents who are interested in donating blood may do so during the Red Cross Blood Drive at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Friday, August 6, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Pascal Hall.

For further information regarding the Blood Drive, contact Pat Davis at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 796-3028.

We hope 13 meetings here this week don't bring bad luck; citizens should attend to make sure they don't

"Government at the grassroots" is what we call the multiplicity of meetings, hearings and discussions regularly conducted by elected and appointed executives, legislators and administrators in this community and surrounding environs.

Such meetings—there will be 13 this week—are held to transact city, township, county, school, college, university, park, sewer, drainage, fire protection, taxation and other official business affecting Quad-Cities.

As it has for the past eight decades, the Press-Record encourages local residents and taxpayers to sit in on the many public meetings so they can keep up-to-date on the issues and proposals being considered by the various governmental entities and agencies.

The Press-Record also endeavors to be present at most of the meetings, to help relay key developments to citizens. It is no easy task, for there not only are numerous gatherings but sometimes dozens of items of business or debate at each one of them.

The schedule differs from week to week but, nearly always, it is a long and diverse list. Take, for example, this week's agenda:

Chouteau Town Board, 7 o'clock tonight at 697 N. Thorgate Drive in Mitchell.

Nameki Town Board, also 7 tonight at the Town Hall, 4250 Highway 162.

Venice Park Board, a special meeting at 7 tonight in the Venice Recreation Center at Lee Park on Broadway, Venice.

Metro East Sanitary District Board, 9 a.m. tomorrow in district offices at 1801 Madison Ave., Granite City.

Pontoon Beach Village Board, 7 p.m.

tomorrow at the Village Hall, 3910 Highway 111.

Venice City Council, 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Venice City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street.

Granite City's City Council, 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave. Topics will include adoption of the current year's city budget and appropriation ordinance.

An Illinois Commerce Commission hearing on Illinois Power Company electricity and natural gas rates, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 28, also at the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave. The Madison County Board's Special Service Area One Sanitary Sewer Committee, 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Sewer Office, 301 E. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell.

Granite City Park Board, 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Wilson Park office near Benton Street and Oregon Avenue.

Metro East Sanitary District Board again, 9 a.m. Thursday, July 29, at 1801 Madison Ave.

Madison County Mass Transit District Board, 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the County Courthouse in Edwardsville.

And, last but not least, a Madison City Council special meeting, called to permit 1982-83 fiscal year budget action, 7 p.m. Thursday at the Madison City Hall on Third Street east of Madison Avenue.

It is an impressive listing, and one of importance to local residents. Decisions that will be made will have a profound effect on both governmental services and individual pocketbooks.

We hope to be there, and to see many of you there.

Hillsboro horse event this week

The 37th annual Hillsboro Horse Show and Festival will be underway from Wednesday, July 28, through Sunday, Aug. 1. The show ranges from speed event classes to Western Pleasure to pony roadsters, Arabians, jumpers, draft horses and walking horses.

A western show with six speed events opens the classes on Wednesday evening, followed by 12 halter and pleasure classes on Thursday. Four draft horse classes will be presented at 4:30 and 7 p.m. on Friday and at 5:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A special All Country Youth Horse Show, co-sponsored by the Jefferson Company 4-H Clubs, will be on Saturday, July 31, beginning at 8:30 a.m. The 4-H members will also have a tent on the midway to exhibit their livestock and arts and crafts projects.

The festival counterpart of this annual show will again include a midway filled with rides, games, tents, exhibits and food. Children's Day will be held Friday, with children 12 and under admitted free. Rides will be at reduced prices and a 10-speed bicycle will be given away to the child with the winning ticket number.

Adults also have a chance to win something at this year's show, as a Yamaha FX 50K motorcycle will be given away Sunday evening.

The show grounds are on Highway 21 and tickets are $2 for adults and 25 cents for children.

ALLEGED FUEL THEFTS

Timothy F. Wallace, 17, St. Charles, Mo., and Dave A. Kuehnle, 17, Hartford, were charged with trespassing and stealing gasoline from vehicles in the St. Elizabeth Medical Center parking garage at 9:50 p.m. Thursday. One was captured a few minutes later on the post office lot and the other in the 2000 block of Washington Avenue.

walkie talkie—around the perimeter of the outstretched legs and arms. The device beeped as it neared the front pockets.

"Only change, really," the reporter replied.

"Aim your camera at the ground and take one picture," the agent instructed.

Bzzzt, went the powerwinder of the camera.

"Fine. What's in the bag?" he asked.

"Auxiliary lenses and filters."

"Open it up, let's have a look."

He breezed through the bag much the same way a customs official does, opening things and forgetting to recap or put them back the way they were.

"Okay."

Passing through the gate, the reporter couldn't feel like a smuggler. The feeling was unjust: Secret Service men in mirrored glasses would have intimidated even "Honest Abe" Lincoln.

Having gotten the security clearance, the reporter advanced toward the area on the runway marked "media only."

At 2:45 p.m., Air Force One was still an hour away.

The media area was clearly marked off with a yellow rope. A flat-bed truck trailer was parked behind it for television cameras to be mounted on tripods.

Behind the trailer were eight to 10 telephones on a long table. The phones were set up for direct dialing to hospitals and to television and radio stations.

Way over on the right were the limousines. Both were black. The President's was a late '70s model Lincoln Continental.

The Seal of the President of the United States was plainly visible on the rear door. Two flags, the American on the right and the Presidential flag on the left, moved gently in an infrequent breeze.

The other limousine, a Cadillac, was somewhat shorter.

The whole operation was as well planned as a Swiss timepiece. Everything was as clean and shiny as possible.

The ramp for exiting the plane, for example, appeared to be freshly painted. Telephone lines laying on the concrete were taped to the surface and ran at right angles.

By 3:30 p.m., all of the St. Louis media people were there: Elliott Davis of KTVI, ABC-TV, Al Wiman of KMOX-TV, CBS-TV, a KSDK television crew, another from KPLR-TV Channel 11 and a couple of crews from various cable television networks.

At 3:40 p.m. the airfield became silent. The sound of jets screaming in for a landing nearly every 30 seconds came to a halt. The skies remained silent.

At 3:41 p.m. the blue and white Air Force One broke that silence as it thundered in from the southeast. People scrambled everywhere to get into position.

Immediately after landing, Air Force

One taxied towards the Rockwell hangar. A beige car marked "U.S. Government" followed it off the runway until the plane reached its predetermined position near the hangar.

Even before the jet's turbine engines came to a halt, the two exit ramps were hurriedly moved into position for the unloading.

People, as many as 50, began pouring out the rear exit of the plane. Only a handful exited at the front.

There was a slight pause. President Reagan looked around a doorway of the plane and disappeared momentarily.

Then, just as if someone had given the okay, the President's entourage made its way out of the plane. The President stopped and waved.

At this point, the Secret Service men were easily identifiable. All other eyes were focused towards the plane. The Secret Service agents, however, were facing in the opposite direction—towards the crowd.

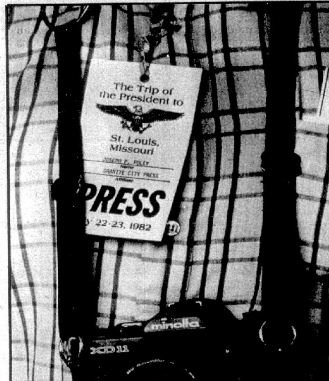

The limousines moved into position at the base of the exit ramp, just feet away from the last step of the ramp, so the President could be ushered off in a hurry.

There were no speeches. No "It's great to be in St. Louis," or anything. That would come later in the afternoon, at a boys' club, and in the evening, at a downtown hotel banquet.

Within three minutes after walking through the door of the plane, the President was gone.

The president's (brief) visit here

The brief, 18-hour visit by President Ronald Reagan to St. Louis last week was marked by extremely tight security and very few chances for the public to see him. Counterclockwise, from top left photo — The president makes his way down the exit ramp from Air Force One followed by several Secret Service agents. The presidential airliner taxis to the Rockwell International facilities across the airfield from the public air terminal, in background; one of two presidential limousines, marked with inconspicuous license plates; Reagan is whisked away, after a brief greeting from Missouri Governor Christopher Bond, with Secret Service agents jogging along side his limousine; one of the bright pink press passes need for access to the secured area where the president met the waiting entourage.

During his brief stay, the president visited the Matthews-Dickey Boys Club, attended a fund raiser for his alma mater, Eureka College, and spoke at a U.S. Olympic Committee fund-raising dinner.

Enrollment drop may have impact until 1990—Moore

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Decreasing enrollment in public schools is having a major impact on schools throughout Illinois and the decline may not end until the end of this decade, George E. Moore Sr., told Granite City Rotarians on Tuesday.

President of the Board of Education of Granite City Community Unit School District Nine, he said the loss here and elsewhere in the state has averaged two percent annually since 1972, a total decrease of 20 percent.

Moore said District Nine has laid off many employees, altered some of the school services, and taken other steps to reduce costs in recent years.

An example cited was a $237,000 yearly outback in custodial work, approved by the board this week.

Because the enrollment decline is likely to continue until 1990, and because much of the funding is based on the number of students, financial problems are continuing and may require drastic procedural revisions in some communities, the club was told.

Moore is a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Association of School Boards and speaks extensively at various Illinois cities on education issues, including board and administration policies and relationships.

He was nominated by the Granite City School Board Tuesday night to be a candidate for state delegate-at-large at the 1982 IASB meeting, Nov. 20-22 in Chicago. David Partney will be the Granite City delegate and Thomas Mlosky, the District Nine alternate delegate at that gathering.

Moore was authorized Tuesday night to attend an IASB leadership conference Sept. 24-25 in Itasca.

The board also approved the district's annual dues payment to the IASB, which was $4,089 in 1982-83, compared to $3,900 in 1981-82.

Moore said at Tuesday's Rotary luncheon that his speaking activities are intended to help develop teamwork between school and school officials, by providing information and insight into school matters.

He noted, "As enrollment in public schools goes down, so does the number of adults with children in school. Only 25 percent have a child in school. And the percentage is even smaller than that in some places."

"Consequently, school boards often are under intense pressure from three-fourths of the population those without children in school—many of whom insist that budgets be balanced with no increase in revenue."

"Parents can readily become a disadvantaged minority when declining enrollments force a school to consider severe cost-cutting."

Three Granite City grade schools were closed several years ago, and a tax rate referendum in the district on renovation of school buildings resulted in a negative vote by the public.

Moore continued, "Parents can lobby their boards to keep a school open in the face of budget problems, or to keep art and music in the school program, or to keep interschool sports. But the board cannot agree to all the requests when its revenue is dropping faster than costs, and when 75 percent of the community prefers program cuts to tax increases."

"Each board must look to the total community for support. But because some people have young children in school and others do not, only part of the community feels as strongly about school quality as it does about the cost."

"Consequently, parents and schools must form a partnership to work out reasonable solutions. Such teamwork is not quick or easy, but good schools depend on it."

The speaker related, "Due to changing lifestyles and declining birthrates, the number of students has been decreasing almost everywhere."

actually tends to weaken school programs and the services available to students.

"In some districts, courses are being eliminated because too few sign up for them. Teachers are being laid off and the number of students per class is rising to keep up with declining income."

"In other districts, boards have had to close buildings or consider consolidating with other districts. Extreme measures become necessary when there are not enough pupils to support a good educational program."

"In still other districts, less enrollment may mean an end to both overcrowded schools and heavy workloads for teachers."

"Nearly all Illinois school systems lose income when enrollment goes down. Most also become less efficient, at least in the short term, because they must spread fixed costs over fewer students."

"This does not necessarily mean that the best solution is always to infuse more money. Sometimes the best answer is to make some tough decisions to end course offerings, lay off employees or close schools."

"It makes sense to drop courses that are under-enrolled, eliminate jobs that are not needed, and close a building that is only partially used."

"The real problems arise when revenue drops so much faster than expenses that cuts must be made beyond those necessary to accommodate fewer pupils."

"A fourth of the districts in this state get most of their income from local sources and do not qualify for the state's full equalization program. For these, enrollment has only a modest effect on income."

"But for three out of four districts, enrollment is a pupil enrollment. If such a district spends $2,000 per student per year, when it loses one pupil it loses $2,000. If its enrollment drops from 500 to 490, it will have $980,000 instead of $1 million."

"The decline in enrollment that board is to reduce expenses by $20,000 without short-changing the remaining students."

"In this example, a decline of only 10 students probably would not permit the board to eliminate a teaching position without ending a course currently offered to remaining students, at the high school level, or without enlarging class size, at the elementary level."

"Actually, school costs vary with enrollment to about the same extent that household costs vary with family size," Moore said.

"In a family of four living on $20,000 a year, the per-person earnings are $5,000. Now when one child grows up and leaves home, the family's expenses drop by $2,000."

"When both children are gone, will the parents' costs drop to $10,000? Of course not. The family still has the house, the car, and the utilities. The only way they will need more of the $20,000 just to meet expenses."

"Some household expenses decline when there are fewer people. Food, clothing and medical expenses should cost less. But the overhead costs of maintaining a home do not drop noticeably."

"Household maintenance, insurance, utilities and mortgage payments will cost about the same. Major savings would be possible only if the parents exchange a large home for one that is more economical."

"The same principle applies to costs of operating a school system. Only when enrollment declines sharply enough to permit a board to eliminate jobs and abandon building programs will costs be curtailed. Overhead costs—insurance, utilities, maintenance and administrative work—are not affected by a slight enrollment decline."

"Illinois' school finance system ignores these fixed costs. As a result, school income plummets more rapidly than school costs," Moore commented.

"The impact of declining enrollment has been worsened because it occurred during a time of spiraling energy costs and double-digit inflation."

"If enrollment had remained constant during the past decade, total school spending would have climbed much more rapidly than it did. The school dollar just doesn't buy as much as it used to."

"Illinois law requires that teachers be laid off in the order of seniority when jobs must be reduced. This law pushes up average salary costs because boards must lay off the younger, lower-paid teachers first."

"If boards had unlimited funds, less enrollment wouldn't hurt the schools and might help some districts to stop overcrowding their classrooms. Each teacher would have fewer students and could focus more effort on each individual child."

"As class size goes down, average cost per pupil rises. As class size goes up, average cost per student decreases."

"When money is limited, a board must budget for a faculty size to suit the size of its student body. As enrollment drops, class size decreases and per-pupil costs go up, unless some faculty jobs are ended."

"Of course, enrollment does not fall in neat increments of one class or one teacher. It decreases a few here and a few there. Typically, the decline does not occur all at one grade level or all in one school."

"It is inevitable that a district with declining enrollment has fluctuations in class size, giving the school a range of inefficiency in some years and inefficiency in other years."

"A board may have to tolerate the high cost of small classes until the decrease becomes great enough to justify laying off a teacher or shutting down a building."

"Then, it may have to accept larger classes until the decline brings the number of students per teacher back down to a reasonable level."

"The best way for a class is something every community must decide for itself. Factors include the cost of the course, the ability of the students, and the methods of the teacher."

"ASB studies show that class size will cycle through a series of peaks and valleys as long as enrollment continues to adjust its staffing. Class size also may go through the same cycles when enrollment is steadily growing."

Moore concluded that "the only answer is for boards and communities to work together to protect the quality of schools against the impact of fewer students. In some ways and in some districts, they may be able to capitalize on the trend and actually improve the caliber of education."

"Drastic changes are unpleasant for boards, administrators, teachers, students and parents. There is no joy in laying off dedicated teachers or closing respected schools."

"If a school faces a bad decision, or fail to make a necessary decision, when it lacks the understanding and support."

"It is the quality of the educational program that matters most. More and more, this quality must be purchased with limited dollars."

"Citizens play a constructive role in balancing costs with quality if they try to understand the effect declining enrollment is having on local schools in terms of budgets and instructional quality."

"Budget board efforts to reduce costs."

"Support board attempts to find additional income in instances where school quality is at stake."

"And help the board seek ways to consolidate classes and programs where necessary."

Appearing this week from Granite City will be: Philip Hahn, Lori and Becky Hildreth, Drew Johnson, Patti Mitchell, Andy and Toby Suarez, Ernie Walker, and Michelle Williams; and from Alton, Jon Tuetken.

The program will be shown today and Wednesday at 3:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

Vacation classes at GC church

Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., is announcing that its annual summertime vacation Bible school for 1982 will be held for two weeks, Mondays through Fridays.

The time this year will be 7 to 9 p.m. For the second week, Aug. 2-6, classes will be at 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Keith Charter, Mrs. Roger Wiebusch and David Filkins will serve as superintendents. Classes will be held for grades K-14 (nursery through eighth grade).

Theme will be "Worship—The Church Year and Order of Services." Craft teachers will teach projects which they have custom-created. Mission projects will include "Central American Missions" and "Bibles for India" and will be supported by the church.

The pastor, the Rev. David Fielding, predicts that all who attend will enjoy the camp-like atmosphere of crafts, music and refreshments. Attendance is free and all children of the neighborhood are welcome to attend.

Pre-registration by calling the church office is encouraged; the number is 876-7568.

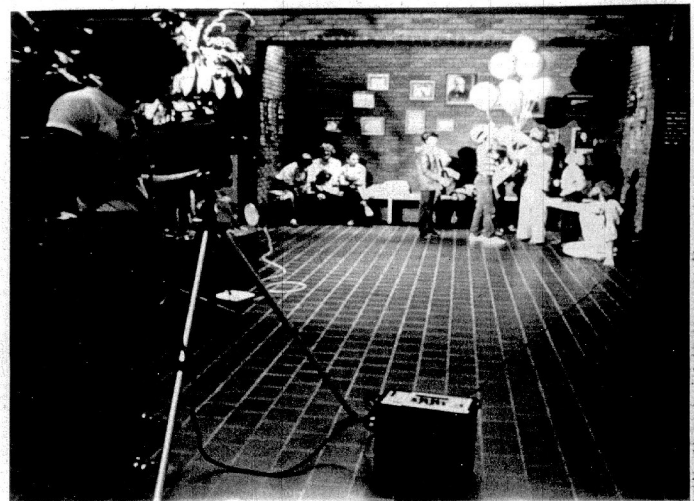

A closing parade, rally and picnic are slated for Sunday, Aug. 7 at 3 to 5 p.m., beginning at the church and ending with games and a winner roast at Stearns Park.

Parents may attend part or all of the rally, and meet their children to take home afterwards from the park at 5 p.m. The rally will feature singing, kite flying, helium balloons, games and prizes.

Assisting at the rally will be a team of young people attending the Lutheran Youth Fellowship Midwest convention in St. Louis. This team will supervise the parade and game activities.

A closing program for parents and the congregation will be held at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Aug. 8 in the church sanctuary. "Perfect attendance" recognition will be accorded those attending all ten days. Sample craft projects will be on display for members and guests of the church.

Lie detectors: do they tell the truth?

By Professor
F. HENRY FIRSCHING
Southern Illinois University
at Edwardsville

Can lie detectors really determine whether the truth or a lie has been told? The answer to that question is anything but clear. Despite this uncertainty, police and private businesses are using lie detector tests more and more. About a million tests are given each year in the United States. Many corporations now use lie detector tests for job interviews. Important decisions, affecting individual's careers, are made on the basis of lie detector tests.

Such widespread use of these tests is a source of concern. Individual rights and freedoms are being infringed by the very nature of these tests. Some experts think they are fairly good, while other experts have grave doubts.

Lie detector tests have two phases. The first is the measurement of breathing rate, moisture on the skin, blood pressure, and heart beat. All the trappings of science are present. A complicated machine records these four physiological responses, as questions are being asked. The subject being tested knows that a series of questions will be given. Some of these questions are relevant, such as, "Did you rob the bank?" Interspersed with the relevant questions are controls, like, "Have you ever deceived anyone?" The machine records any changes in the four physiological measurements, with each question that is asked. That is the end of the scientific phase of the test.

The second phase is the interpretation of the measurements by the operator. This is the major difficulty. The operator's skill and judgment are crucial. Obviously, there will be a considerable range in various operator's skills.

Lie detector operators are usually trained for an eight-week period. In this eight-week program, there is little psychology or physiology of the body presented. But that is what the lie detector test is all about. The response of the individual is psychological, and the measurements are all physiological. Interpretation of the test is a blending of these two. The training of most operators is grossly inadequate for such subtle and complicated interactions.

The big stumbling block about the concept of lie detection is that no specific "lie response" exists. It is impossible to determine if a given response is due to anxiety, indignation, guilt, or something else. When looking at the measurement, the operator has no way of discovering what caused the response. Nobody can!

From a strictly scientific point of view, the validity and reliability of lie detector tests has not been established. Far from it! Studies of lie detector tests have been made and divergent results obtained. The American Polygraph Association conducted studies using professional operators, who normally do the testing, as the subjects. This study showed that lie detector tests were accurate 87 to 95 percent of the time. Even the professional testers found that lie detector tests were wrong about 9 percent of the time. The fact that this study was made by people whose livelihood depends on these tests brings up the possibility of bias.

A similar study of lie detector tests was made by personnel at the University of Minnesota. However, this study was not conducted in a laboratory environment, but in the field, the way tests are normally made. Under such real conditions, the accuracy of the tests dropped alarmingly. About 64 to 71 percent of the tests appeared to be accurate. That means that about one-third of the tests results were wrong. Random guessing is 50 percent accurate. So this study indicated that lie detector tests are only slightly better than random guessing.

Despite this severe limitation in the accuracy of lie detector tests, the use of these tests continues to increase. The process of basing decisions and judgments on such flimsy evidence is alarming. It is only slightly better than flipping a coin. Yet the pressure for such true or false information exists. So police agencies and business organizations lean toward some form of assistance, even if it is flimsy.

However, civil libertarians and others, who are interested in basic human freedoms and true justice, express growing concern

Memoriams 32

In Memoriam
In loving memory of
GERALDINE McGOVERN
who passed away July 23, 1974.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell. Of the loss of one we loved so well—and while she sleeps a peaceful sleep. Her memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by:
Husband and children and grandchildren.
Mother and Dad and all those who loved her

IN LOVING memory of JESS HADLEY, July 26, 1981. You were a crown of patience. As you struggled on and on; The hands that rest forever. Are the hands that were so strong. God watched you while you suffered. And he knew you had your share. He tenderly closed your weary eyes. And took you in his care. — Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren. 32 7 26

ETHEL M. FRY, July 24, 1907. You've been gone 15 years and we still love and miss you. — Daughters Gladys Phelps and Carolyn Phelps. 32 7 26

IN LOVING memory of JESS L. HADLEY, July 26, 1981. Dad: You had to leave us for awhile. We had to grieve and shed our tears. Although sorrow will be with us during our years, bravely we live on with a smile. We look to the future and in a little while, Time will be when we are together again. In the beautiful place called Heaven where our souls are safe and free. To live with God and Jesus throughout eternity. — 1 daughter, Janet. 32 7 26

Beachfront with the Beach Boys

HOLLYWOOD — There are those who claim that the Beach Boys invented the California dream.

This is the dream of white beaches and crashing surf, golden tans and cruising cars, Levis and Pendletons, the ever-present sunshine — the world of Avalon, Valhalla and Corona Del Mar.

The time was the 1960s, a period of restless youth, explosive rock, Dylan and Baez, war and demonstrations and the Beach Boys.

The quintet sang of beachfront frolics and the wait for the perfect wave — escapism at its best.

Capitol Records has dug into its vaults for 24 Beach boy songs of that era and they are contained in a two-record set aptly titled "Sunshine Dreams."

Just the titles of the songs put you in the California mood: "Wild Honey," "Sloop John B," "Keep an Eye on Summer," "Be Here in the Mornin'," "Friends," "I'm Waiting for the Day."

Put these on the stereo and settle back with a hot dog and soda for a little California dreamin'.

RETURN WITH US TO...

THE FAMOUS SUPERHERO OF THE COMICS WAS ONCE A POPULAR RADIO SHOW. SUPERMAN FIRST CAME TO THE AIRWAVES VIA THE MUTUAL NETWORK IN 1940. BUILD UP LATER A TELEVISION M.C., WAS THE MILD-MANNERED VOICE OF CLARK KENT AND THE DYNAMIC VOICE OF SUPERMAN. COLLETS RELATIVELY HIGH-PITCHED TONE FOR KENT AND THEN A DEEP POWERFUL TONE FOR SUPERMAN. USUALLY CHANGED IN THE MIDDLE OF THE LINE... THIS LOOKS LIKE A JOB... FOR SUPERMAN!

'Devlin' series ready to go

By ALAN L. GANSBERG
HOLLYWOOD — It's been a long wait for cast and crew, but "The Devlin Connection," NBC's upcoming ROCK HUDSON series, will finally be going on the air this fall. It was originally scheduled for last season, but Hudson had heart surgery, and the show had to be put on hold. For co-star JACK SCALIA, the wait has been tolerable, and now that most of the episodes for the fall have been filmed, he's actually ready for a vacation.

On the series he plays Hudson's son, previously unknown to the retired CIA man. According to the story, Hudson had an affair with Scalia's mother, but his CIA activities made it necessary for him to go underground. Scalia's mother died in childbirth, without Hudson ever knowing he had a son. Scalia — Nick — was raised by his grandparents in Brooklyn. If this wasn't a detective series you might say it sounds like a soap opera.

In the past year, a special relationship has developed between Scalia and Hudson, one that can only enhance the series as the interaction of the co-stars. "Rock is as much of a friend as anyone I've had in my life," Scalia said. "He's a friend, a father, a pal, a confidant. Working with Rock has given me a chance to be with an institution, and see what he does. I've learned not to take things so seriously."

Married and well-known as a model, Scalia lives in the Hollywood Hills, where he busies himself with many athletic and self-improvement pursuits.

He describes himself as both a church-going Roman Catholic, and a born-again Christian. He's known to have long conversations with his parish priest.

When not working he can be found running track with an amateur athletic group, or working out at a gym. It's part of a plan to formulate his spiritual, physical, mental and emotional self.

"I'm trying not to be a perfectionist," he allowed. "It puts too much stress on you." And, he's found that he does not miss his native New York. California, Scalia insists, agrees with him.

JANE FONDA is moving heavily into all areas of television. She plans to do a movie for ABC this season entitled "The Dollmaker," and will produce "Jane Fonda's Celebrity Fashion Show" for Showtime, the pay-TV service. DAVID STEINBERG will co-star. Can a series be far behind for Jane? It's probable she'll make a guest appearance on "9 to 5," the ABC series which she produces along with partner Bruce Gilbert.

Also planning more television work is LEONARD NIMOY, who will be developing a special on the life of the late folk singer WOODY GUTHRIE.

His "Star Trek" cohort, WILLIAM SHATNER, has been signed for "Airplane II," along with RIP TORN.

ANDREW STEVENS was wooed to join the cast of "CHIPS," replacing LARRY WILCOX. Word was that Stevens wanted $50,000 per episode, a big jump from the $25,000 per he earned for "Code Red" last season. Sources at MGM-TV, which produces the series, say that here will be no big explanation for why Jonny Baker — Wilcox — is no longer partnered with Ponch — ERIK ESTRADA. The implication will be that Baker is off with another partner and Ponch now has a headstrong, brash rookie of his own to deal with.

JOHN GIELGUD has agreed to co-star in CBS's TV movie, "The Scarlet and the Black," as Pope Pius XII. Starring none other than GREGORY PECK.

MARTY INGELS is going back to performing — sort of. He'll be doing the voice of "Pac Man" in an upcoming ABC Saturday morning animated series of that very name.
